WHAT I EXPECT OF THE SYNAGOGUE

When I am ^{sick} ~~ill~~, my first thought is to see a doctor, and I in turn expect him to ~~enrich me~~ and make me healthy and strong again; when I need financial help, I see the aid of a banker; when I want to build a house, I immediately turn to an architect; when it is legal advice I desire, I place my problems in the hands of a lawyer, But, when there are every day problems of the heart and soul, there is no one individual to whom I can turn and expect him to help me. This I can only work out between God and myself.

What I expect of the Synagogue can be expressed in three simple words - - LOVE, FORTITUDE, and UNDERSTANDING.

Love in the sense to which I am referring, means more than just the emotional feeling between two people - - to me it consists of friendliness, kindness, consideration, sharing happiness, and just simply loving thy neighbor as God intended for us to do.

In time of sadness and misfortune, I expect ^{To find} Fortitude ⁱⁿ ~~of~~ the Synagogue. Without the Synagogue to go to, I know that in time of grief I would not have the strength to endure it nor the courage to go on.

When it comes to UNDERSTANDING, the only one that really understands us is God, and his house of worship is always opened to his children. If I do something wrong, instead of right, when I hurt someones feelings when I do not intend to, if I put off doing a thing for the sake of laziness, God will understand and help me correct these things and make me benefit by my previous mistakes. When I feel low in spirit, a visit to The Synagogue always gives me more self-reliance and enables me to enjoy the beauty of the world ~~as God intends for us all to do.~~

CONCLAVE
TEMPLE YOUTH of MISSISSIPPI
JACKSON - MARCH 8-9, 1947

THE END Of School Days.

The Graduate

It seems but just a little while since Mother said to me,
"Her dresses all are finished now and pretty as can be;
The one she'll wear tomorrow is the cutest of the lot;
The one with all the ribbons and the little polka-dot,"
She had worked for weeks to make them,
and her heart was filled with pride,
But I knew that there was something she was trying hard to hide.

I felt the same about it, something heavy on my heart,
I knew that when the morning came,
our little girl must start,
She was six in February and her baby-hood was past,
The time when she would go to school had really come at last.
We spent that night in sadness, neither of us could sleep,
'Twas the losing of the baby that we thought we'd always keep.

Now that was twelve short years ago,-- today that little lass,
Is one of forty-seven in the graduating class,
Her high school days are over,
but we're feeling mighty glad,
For she's still a little baby to her Mother and her Dad.
And we've come to the conclusion that in all God's Great Estate, There is nothing any sweeter than our Sweet Girl Graduate.

- Amen -
